

2008 Collegiate Environmental Sustainability Conference

Spelman College
Atlanta, Georgia
October 23-24, 2008

Going GREEN has never made more "cents"...

 Now more than ever, economic and environmental benefits are critical to the sustainability of our institutions. Energy efficiency, indoor air quality, water conservation, smart land use and more are essential components for a healthier campus. Remodeling and building with sustainable materials to meet the needs of growing campuses are key to reducing our impact on the environment, health, and resources. Environmental decisions now affect us economically later.

Make the right environmental decisions: join us in learning the dollars and sense of Going Green. Learn about benefits, success stories and resources available for Colleges and Universities. The window of opportunity is now!

Click here to receive electronic updates and further conference information .

www.epa.gov/region4/greencolleges

Check back often, information will be updated as it becomes available!

Sponsored By:

Spelman College
A Choice to Change the World